Dieppe: April was record month for value of building permits

DIEPPE, N.B. — The City of Dieppe continued on its path of prosperity in April with a total of 65 building permits issued valued at $14,258,995. This marked the best April in the city's history.

The commercial sector saw 10 building permits representing a total value of $8,413,562. The residential sector continued to see growth with 55 building permits at a value of $5,845,433.

During the first four months of 2011, 133 building permits have been issued at a total value of $24,918,072.

"This was the best April we have ever seen in Dieppe as well as our second-best beginning of the year for the period of January to April," said Mayor Jean LeBlanc. "I'm particularly pleased that the commercial sector has shown its strength for the second month in a row with a value of $8,413,562 for April compared to $4,642,179 in the previous month. We are very happy with the way this year has started out."

Ronald LeBlanc, president of the Economic Development Corporation of the City of Dieppe, was also impressed with the results. "It is important to underline the hard work of our local developers. We are fortunate to be able to count on entrepreneurs who have the economic growth of Dieppe at heart and who have chosen to invest in our community."

Among the highlights for April was a major expansion project for the Irving Group's head office.
